DECLUTTER FOR A CAUSE

Decluttering subconsciously creates a state of calm and clearing out a space or getting rid of extraneous material also helps individuals become in tune with their immediate environment. In some cases, it is used as a form of therapy to manage mild mental health issues, where it has been scientifically proven to significantly boost an individual's focus on work, for example. It is also very helpful in letting go of past traumatic or otherwise triggering experiences, the concept of "out of sight, out of mind." As most charities and nonprofits don't have much funding, it's the passion and resilience of individuals who devote their lives to helping people in need that keep these charities alive. Declutter For A Cause is dedicated to clearing out home and office space to give unused items to charities to be used to take better care of their beneficiaries.
